

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Multiple specimens, typically biological samples having different properties and origins, are bound onto matrix substrates, and oligonucleotides, proteins and drugs are spotted on each matrix in an array to examine those specimens at a time for multiple items.